SHEMOT: LOOKING GOOD!

In this week's parasha we read about how Pharaoh made the Jewish People work very hard as slaves. It was back-breaking labour, under harsh conditions. Moshe grew up in Pharaoh's palace and therefore was not part of this cruel treatment. He could have stayed in the palace where it was comfortable and removed from his Jewish brothers and sisters.... but he did not. He chose to go beyond the palace walls and witness their suffering. Moshe looked out for them and did what he could to help. This was one of the qualities that made Moshe one of the greatest leaders of all time.
