

Tribe Hit the Mark with Paintballing

Tribe took 45 of their members to the Zap Centre in Hertfordshire on Monday 28th July as the summer holidays began, for a game of paintballing. An excited group were welcomed by the centre as they got ready by putting on their protective armour. They were then given a tutorial of the rules of the game as well as safety procedures.

After being split into four teams the games started. Each team had a mission to capture another team's flag whilst also trying to hit as many opponents as possible. Tribe also took groups to Danson Water Park and Legoland later in the week.

Tribe Days Out continue at the end of August, where they will be getting up-close and personal with the wildlife at Sayers Croft, learning the movie tricks of stage make-up and monkeying around at Go Ape, an adventure playground. Click here [1] to book your place for these three events.

Joshua Cowan, a participant, commented "It was great to have something fun and exciting to do in the holidays. I got to have loads of fun with my friends and meet new people at the same time."

Andrew Goldman, Kids Projects Executive, said, "Tribe Days Out are quickly becoming the place to be over the summer holidays. It's wonderful to see so many of our members having a great time".
