

Tribe take to the slopes during half-term

22nd February 2016 - Tribe took almost 100 participants in Years 4-8 to Snozone in Milton Keynes over two days for some sledging fun.

During two separate trips, one for Years 4-6 and one for Years 7 & 8, participants spent a fun couple of hours sledging on the artificial snow. Before being let loose on the slopes and racing against each other, participants were instructed how to sledge safely.

When they were not slipping and sliding, Tribe Shinshinim (Israeli community workers) held an interactive quiz, with participants working in teams and using mobile phones to answer questions.

David Collins, The US' Director of Young People and Young Families said: “Tribe’s regular half-term trips are a fantastic opportunity to engage with our members in a fun and informal environment, whilst placing an emphasis on team-work. We look forward to further strengthening our relationships with participants through our upcoming summer days out, summer camps and Israel Tour”.
